MAKING TOKYO'S ROADS THE SAFEST IN THE WORLD

Opening ceremony of the new Traffic Mobile Unit

Traffic safety education

In order to prevent traffic accidents and realize a safe and comfortable mobile environment, each and every one of us should increase our awareness of safety by following all traffic rules and be kind and considerate on our nation's roads.

The TMPD offers a wide range of participatory and interactive traffic safety lessons practical for all ages in an effort to raise traffic safety awareness.

Traffic accidents in Tokyo

Scan the 2-D bar code for more information on traffic accident prevention (only in Japanese).

In 2022, traffic accidents and injuries in Tokyo increased from the preceding year, whereas the number of deaths was 132, down from the previous year and the lowest number since the end of World War II

Statistics show that elders aged 65 or over make up approximately 40.9% of all traffic-related deaths, and approximately 37.9% of deaths are of pedestrians.

*The number of traffic accidents indicates accidents resulting in injury or death (property damage accidents not included).
